
CONTENTS

- 144 JÁNOS SZÁZ
Keynes and the interpretation of probability versus the use of probability theory in option pricing
- 156 PÉTER MEDVEGYEV
On the economic interpretation of probability theory
- 166 IMRE SZABÓ
Classical economics and happenstance
- 174 ZOLTÁN ZÉMAN
Did Keynes' logical theory of probability have impact on economic thinking?
Review and comment
to the paper by Iván Bélyácz – Katalin Daubner
- 199 MELINDA FRIESZ – KIRA MURATOV-SZABÓ – ANDREA PREPUK – KATA VÁRADI
The stress tests of central counterparties
in the case of separate default funds
Planning the default fund and calculating its size
- 218 TÍMEA ÖLVEDI
An overview of peer-to-peer lending
- 233 MÁRTA ARANYOSSY – ESZTER KULCSÁR
Blended learning in practice:
the impact of an economic simulation game
on perceived learning